

Is Intelligent Design Science?

Four views

Multiple Speakers

Four individuals consider the issues raised by the ongoing debate concerning Intelligent Design (ID). Four individuals consider the issues and advocate their own perspectives on this issue. Topics include whether ID is science, whether ID is true and whether ID is helpful to a Christian apologetic.

The first speaker is Rob Heather, a naval architect.

The second speaker is Tom Woodward, who has studied the development of Intelligent Design.

The third speaker is Alexander Fink, who is carrying out doctoral research on Intelligent Design.

The fourth speaker is Ruth Bancewicz, a biologist and the Development Officer for Christians in Science.

The individual presentations were followed by a question and answer session, which will appear as a separate resource shortly.

The forum was chaired by Dr Richard Carhart.
