

Faith in a Pluralistic Society

Elaine Storkey

In a talk given at The Veritas Forum at the University of Cambridge in March 2008, Dr Elaine Storkey considers what it means to have a Christian faith while living in a pluralistic society. In such a context, she asks whether the beliefs and values of Christians can still feed into politics, government, law and other social institutions.

The talk lasts for about 40 minutes, with 25 minutes of questions and answers.

This talk is published here by the kind permission of The Veritas Forum.

[Image]