

Writing from a Christian Worldview

Timothy J. Keller

In this talk, Dr Timothy J. Keller addresses writers on what it means to write from a Christian worldview. You can't make sense from facts without using them to create a story, and you can't make sense of a story without putting it into the context of a macro-level worldview. All the stories we tell as Christians fall into the gospel worldview of creational good, fallenness, and redemption.
